

$30,000 WORTH CONCRETE ON ROADS

Madison Highways To Be Further Improved At Reduced Cost During Year

Concrete in greater quantities than ever before has been employed in constructing bridges and culverts for roads in Madison county during the past year, the estimated cost of this feature of road work alone being $30,000, according to County Road Engineer J. G. Baxter.

"There will be road building in Madison county next year," said Mr. Baxter, "but it will be under better conditions, and there will be more work done and not so much money paid out. There will be better working conditions for both the men and the county. The work will be more satisfactory all the way around. One of the men who has been in the employ of the county and a good road workman for years stated he did not have any more money at $3.50 per day than when he was paid $1.50 per day, and this is the way with many of them."

Mr. Baxter stated wages would not be reduced to this extent. However, he believed with the general adjustment of things prices would go down and that workmen would not be so scarce and all would be able to tell just about what $5 would buy, anyhow. There will be much more work during the coming year, and the expense will not be nearly so great. That which had to be done this year was accomplished, or, rather, the finishing touches are being applied and the roads are being put in condition for winter.

More Soldiers Coming

Dr. O. F. Hume, government surgeon at the Patti A. Clay Infirmary, is preparing to receive a number of more soldiers who will be here within a short time for operations, according to reports. He has been very busily engaged during the past two months during which time he has been serving in this capacity, having operated upon a large number of ex-service men, many of whom were from this city and county.

Smith Still Awaiting Trial

Bill Smith of near Corbin, who has been in the Madison county jail for several months awaiting trial for murder, will remain here until the February term of court, according to reports issued from Corbin. He is said to have killed an officer who tried to effect his arrest. He was returned for trial, but the case was carried over with the result that he will wait until spring.

No Special Xmas Dinner

While there is the largest number of prisoners in the Madison county jail at this time of the year for a number of years past, there will be few more liberations until after the first of the year. There will be no special menu this year, according to advices emanating from official headquarters of the county bastille, and many who doubtless enjoyed all the good things comprising an Xmas dinner last year, will find many missing dishes this year.

PROSECUTION OF PARENTS HELD UP

The hearing of the big list of parents from the Posey section booked for last week, has been postponed owing to other cases being set for a hearing on the same date. It is now said to be probable that a number will be haled before Judge Price in county court next week. A long list of affidavits has been issued and preparations are on for the prosecution of all who have been guilty of violating the compulsory educational laws. There have been many, Truant Officer W. A. Johnson states, who have failed to send their children to school. This is the gist of the trouble to officer states, and constitutes the greater portion of the work connected with his office, since wild truants are few and far between. There are a number of students reported as having tried to take matters into their own hands and "teach the teachers." However, this element is said to be a very decided minority.

COUNTY OPENS QUARRY FOR WINTER ROAD WORK

The county stone quarries will be reopened by the county workmen within a short time and there will be more blasting and taking out of stone—but the blasting will not be of the force which characterized those during the time the streets were being provided with the ingredient. The supply to be taken out will be for the purpose of providing material for the necessary road work during the winter.

The quarry has been worked to a point as near as possible to Hill street and the future operations will be from another quarter. However, there is said to be an abundant supply of stone, in which the county is very rich.

It is being planned by the officials of the schools to make the occasion an eventful one in the history of education in the state of Kentucky. It is expected that the distinguished visitors who will participate in the rendition of the program will be greeted at least they should be, by a great attendance upon the part of the public, since their affiliation and friendship to education warrants the admiration and assistance of all.

BEREA STUDENT FIGHTS CHARGE

Millard Smith, until recently a student at Berea College, was defendant in two cases in which he was charged with carrying concealed weapons and beach of the peace, at a night session called in the office of County Judge W. K. Price Tuesday night. The jury in the first case disagreed, while the charge was not sustained in the second, and third charge, that of carrying deadly weapons, was laid away subject to redocketing, and the defendant released.

The breach of peace charge was preferred by Prof. Durham, a member of the Berea faculty. There were a number of witnesses.

Shelby White was the complaining witness in the other case heard, and he claimed that Smith used a pair of snuff-knives during a recent encounter. The latter denied this. The hearing continued until a late hour and after the decision of the second jury, it was decided to hold the third accusation over. I. said Smith has been expelled from the college.

NEAL BENNETT HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE

High Wind Contributes to Loss as Result of Defective Flue—Partial Insurance

The home and residence building of Neal Bennett, a two-story frame house, West Main street, was almost totally destroyed by fire shortly before noon Thursday when fire broke out near the roof, presumably from a defective flue. The building and most of its contents were destroyed, the fire gaining an impetus that proved uncontrollable by the high wind.

Neighbors, upon seeing the fire, broke into the building and carried out much of the furniture from the ground floor, Mrs. Overton Harber, who with her husband, occupied a portion of the house, being absent from home at the time. Mrs. Harber stated the fires were as usual when she left the house shortly before 10 o'clock. The Harbers sustained a loss of several hundred dollars as a result of most of their clothing and wedding presents, besides some furniture, being on the second floor of the building.

The Bennett loss will probably exceed $5,000 on the building and half that amount on the household goods. The latter were insured for $1,500, and the building for $5,000. Much of the clothing and furniture on the first floor were saved through the energetic efforts of neighbors. However, all above this floor was consigned to the flames, which were driven from the front of the house, where the fire started, through the entire building. The second floor was swept within a short time. The efforts of the fire department proved effective below him, and they saved a garage and two other smaller buildings near the house. Two lines of hose were laid, being connected from the Main street plug. The hose was in good condition.

Mr. Bennett stated that while the house had been rebuilt 15 years ago as the result of a fire, the structure was good and could not be rebuilt at present for the sum representing the building cost then. The insurance will not cover one-half of the loss, it is believed. Should the house be rebuilt, which will probably be the case, according to Mr. Bennett, it will require building through, owing to the damage to the lower portions.

Stone Maupin, in charge of the fire truck, stated that the fan on the truck front broke just before the scene of the fire was reached, and a gasoline hood was found to be misplaced, he claimed, which he could not understand. With his management, however, these incidents did not deter the progress made and the hose was soon brought into play, although the roof was a sheet of flames and the fire was rapidly eating its way to the ground floor. The city firemen were soon upon the scene and the engine carried two streams of water in a forceful manner. The water service could not be complained of, many believing the firemen would be unable to save any part of the building.

A part of the furniture of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett was removed to the home of neighbors for the time being, and a portion stored in one of the buildings at the rear. Mrs. Bennett is in the east on account of ill health.

Mr. and Mrs. Harber are called upon to look out for a temporary home. Neither Mr. Bennett nor Mr. and Mrs. Harber have definitely decided as to future plans regarding their homes.

POOL SEEMS TO BE GOING SLOW IN DAVIEES

Owensboro, Ky., Dec. 16.—Unless there is a more concerted action on the part of tobacco growers of Davies county, there is some doubt now that the pool of the 1920 crop through what is to be known as the Tobacco Growers' Marketing Association will be formed, so some of the leaders of the movement stated today when 600 farmers again met at the court house. The tabulation of pledges was the chief feature of the meeting. Some districts made a good showing, while others were anything but satisfactory. A committee of 500 farmers was to be named at the afternoon session to make a canvass among those growers not solicited on Thursday, the report at another meeting to be held probably on Friday, when it will be definitely announced just what will be the outcome of the proposed organization.

Notwithstanding efforts made to keep the growers from bringing their tobacco to the loose leaf floors in Owensboro, the sales today will aggregate over 200,000 pounds with an average around $8 per hundred.

The tobacco market reached its highest point during the season Wednesday, when prior tobacco sold at an average of $9.50 per 100 pounds, 67,600 pounds being disposed of, and the leaf went as high as $39. Buyers and warehousemen said the advance in the market was due to the superior quality of the offering, while growers claimed it was due to the organization of the Green River Tobacco Marketing Association, recently formed. The campaign of the growers to obtain better prices will be carried into other counties in the Green river district.

BIG XMAS TREE FOR UNION CITY

Members of the faculty and students of the Union City high school are preparing for the celebration of Christmas on an extensive scale and there will be a community Christmas tree and many other things that will provide enjoyment for all. The tree, it is said, will be one of the largest ever seen there, and it is said there will be presents galore. There will be attending, those for miles around, according to reports, and everyone is already anxious to do their bit. Prof. Akin one of the chief instigators in this as well as many other progressive things in Union City schools, is claiming there will be an old-fashioned time, the kind our mothers and fathers used to enjoy.

There will also be a lyceum course, comprising six numbers to be presented at the school auditorium. The first number will be announced within a short time.

HOW MACK MOORE LOST AN ARM AT REELFOOT

(From Danville Advocate) Mr. J. C. Caldwell returned last night from Walnut Log, Reelfoot Lake, Tenn., where he was met by Mr. McBrayer Moore on a hunting expedition. Mr. Moore was with a guide hunting about two miles from Walnut Log. There was no one present except Mr. Moore and the guide at the time of the accident. They were hiding behind a stump, watching for wild ducks. In some way the guide accidentally knocked the gun from the stump and it was discharged the contents entering Mr. Moore's left arm between the elbow and shoulder. Mr. Moore and the guide were walking. With the assistance of the guide, Mr. Moore walked two miles to Walnut Log after the accident occurred. A physician was summoned from Hickman, Ky. It was three hours after the accident occurred before the physician arrived. It was found that amputation was necessary. Mr. Caldwell reports that Mr. Moore is getting along fine and that he will recover. The many friends of Mr. Moore in this county will be gratified to learn that he is getting along so well.

DENIES CLIENT WAS AFTER GIRL'S MONEY

Lawyer of Man Mentioned in Connection With Miss Tevis' Death Makes Statement

New York, Dec. 15.—In a statement to newspaper men, counsel for the young Jerseyman whose name has been mentioned by friends of Miss Betty Tevis as that of the man who jilted her and thereby drove her to suicide denied his client was a "lounge lizard" at fashionable hotels who lived by his wits and sought Miss Tevis' hand in marriage, only to spurn her on learning she was not wealthy.

Miss Tevis shot herself last Thursday night in the apartment of her sister, Mrs. Joseph T. Talbert, formerly of Richmond, Ky., widow of a banker, at No. 110 East 54th street. Mrs. Talbert told the police her sister, who was 18 years old, pressed a revolver to her breast almost immediately following a telephone conversation she had with a man.

Newspaper men were told after the tragedy by persons telephoning anonymously that a certain man living in a town across the river was responsible for the girl's act. This man was still out of reach of reporters, but his attorney made this statement: "My client met Miss Tevis twice at the Hotel Plaza. They were casual acquaintances. There was no courtship. He never telephoned to Miss Tevis.

"It is true he posed under another name, but it was his middle name and it was used because he wished to save his family notoriety in event he got into any escapade such as the sons of wealthy families occasionally do. He did not have to live by his wits, nor was he a fortune seeker. He has considerably more money than Mrs. Talbert or her sister possessed.

"The story that he was run out of Tulsa, Okla., is untrue. Sometimes the sons of wealthy families get into financial scrapes. My client owns considerable stock and property and he is in business for himself. He went around a bit just as young men of his age—twenty-one—do, but there was nothing in his acquaintance with Miss Tevis to lead to any belief he was engaged to her. Those who have tried to involve him as the cause of her suicide are themselves of the lounge lizard type.

"Who knows that the girl's suicide was the result of a telephone call? Why could it not have been due to some quarrel other than the alleged flitting by telephone?

It was learned that on Friday evening a tall, blonde-haired young man with mustache, answering description of the New Jersey man, appeared at the Campbell funeral parlors and went over to the coffin containing the body of Miss Tevis. Learning of this incident, Mrs. Talbert caused the immediate removal of the body to St. George's Chapel, Stuyvesant Square, where funeral services were held Saturday.

Mrs. Talbert and her sister's body are in Richmond, Ky., the home of the Tevis family.

IS QUITE CORRECT

Elated over their success at the opening game of the Madison High basketball team, the girls' basketball team are preparing to defend their excellent start next Friday night when they will play the girls' team from the Versailles high school here. It is said to be probable that the winning combination of the first game, Misses Sara and Mabel Sheppard, James, Terrell and Yates, will compose the team that will meet the visitors from Woodford county.

The Model High girls, Misses Sara Cheraut, Luxon, Ray, Doty and Mary Cheraut will benefit from their practice work and are expected by their friends and admirers to do good work against Winchester on Friday night.

The boys' teams are preparing to maintain a high standard in the way of play, and all hope to be able to continue the good record made thus far. Other papers in neighboring towns are commenting favorably on the auspicious opening of the season here. One paper comments upon the Daily Register as classifying the Madison High school girls' team as stars, all of which is accepted as being absolutely correct and appropriate.

SMALL COST OF JUVENILE COURT

The Madison county juvenile court has been maintained at a less cost for some time, according to the reports of County Judge W. K. Price, who has had a number of cases and there have been a number of convictions, however, there have not been any charges taxed by witnesses; he claims, none having been asked. The situation is out of the ordinary, since there are usually a large number of witnesses asking fees, especially in cases where convictions follow. "I have been trying all the cases coming before me," said Judge Price, "and Sheriff Whitlock has been attending to his part of it, and there have been no charges from that source, and I maintain that is doing work at a low cost." There will be a number of cases for trial the first of the coming week, according to preparations now on, as a result of parents failing to send their children to school.

PORK PRICE DROPS SUPPLIES COME IN

County Folk Make Hit With Popular Price and Fresh Meats
Results of Weather

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good—an old maxim much in evidence since the weather man put the mercury down to the freezing point, and many are taking advantage thus offered. Meat prices are dropping since the cold spell and there is a decided decrease in patronage, it is said, at local dealers, since the county folks are bringing in their extra jowls, sausage, spare ribs, and the proverbial pieces that characterize the porker.

Fresh country sausage is being weighed out to anxious buyers at 20 cents per pound, spare ribs at 12-13 cents, jowls a similar price and other parts in proportion, it is said. Restaurant men state they have been doing better the past two days than at any time since the war, and are glad to see the meat at this price, stating they can look their customers in the face and intimate at least by their expression that the patron is getting his money's worth.

Lard, too, is taking a tumble. Consumers state, some putting in large quantities of this, the so-called lard. One man took more than 100 pounds of fresh sausage at 20 cents per pound and informed the farmer that he would take up to 1,000 pounds, delivered at this price. "Just give us a little more of this weather and you will get it," the county resident replied.

Material Arriving

For Big Stone Wall

There will be a crescent-shaped stone wall built at the southeast corner of the county stone quarries, which will act as a protection for pedestrians or drivers of vehicles in that locality. The present dangerous condition has drawn much comment upon the part of many who are said to have had narrow escapes from driving into the blind entrance to the quarry. The dangerous condition had been called to the attention of members of the city council who found that it was the duty of the county to provide the protection, and County Road Engineer Baxter has started the work. He has some of the material on the scene and will begin work on the wall as soon as possible. By constructing a circular wall, the two streets entering this vicinity will be protected.

Fiscal Court Meeting

The next meeting of the fiscal court will mark the closing up of a number of accounts and routine business for the county for the year to end soon. There will be considerable routine business, and County Judge W. K. Price, who presides, asserts there will perhaps be additional accounts as a result of charges being made by outside sheriffs bringing prisoners here for trial.

KILLED AT CROSSING

Lawrenceburg, Ky.—Col. J. R. Johnson, 77, Confederate veteran, died at his home here from injuries received when struck by a train at a crossing.

You want a Battery that fits

"You're right. You can't put a short, fat battery into a long slim box in your car. Then you want a battery with terminals that will shake hands like old acquaintances with your car's wiring terminals.

"But the main thing is to give you a battery with the right capacity to work in harmony with your car's electrical system. Your cutting-in-speed counts—that's the speed at which your generator begins to do business—and the number of amperes it feeds into the battery. Those are just some of the conditions your battery must work under. What it all means is that you want a battery of the right capacity to digest the current fed into it and to handle its work without strain.

"We have EXIDE batteries in all sizes and type to replace batteries of all makes. But we won't sell a battery if your old one is repairable. No matter what its make, if its plates are still sound enough, we'll rejuvenate and guarantee it."

If your battery needs recharging, phone 428—we call for and deliver your battery. We also have rental batteries for use while yours are being recharged or repaired.
